

Workshop Session 3 Community Identity Chart Building Inclusive School Communities

Facilitators: Columbia Public Schools Equity Team
Columbia Public Schools Anytown Student Equity Team

Workshop will be a community exercise. As a school community, students will identify who they are and find common ground in building inclusive school communities. This exercise will help students identify ways to enhance student bonds across boundaries and identities. We are one, starts with the students.

Workshop Session 1E

Relevant Pedagogy for the 21st Century Learner with Equity in Mind

Facilitator: Dr. Kevin Brown
Assistant Superintendent Secondary Education
Columbia Public Schools

This workshop will focus on the sustainability of the message to identify strategies making pedagogy more relevant and effective for the 21st century learner. The workshop will engage attendees in current discourse around inclusive communities and collaboration.

Biography

Dr. Kevin Brown is the assistant superintendent of secondary education for Columbia Public Schools. Brown was recommended to Columbia Public Schools Board of Education in May 2016. Brown's role as assistant superintendent of secondary education is a critical position in supporting Columbia Public Schools' secondary staff, students and community.

Prior to coming to Columbia, Brown was the directing principal for Madison Metropolitan School District, Cherokee Heights Middle School, in Madison, Wisconsin. He was also an instructor of sociology at Milwaukee Area Technical College. From 2004-14, Brown served in various administrative roles, both at the middle school and high school levels, in the Racine Unified School District, in Racine, Wisconsin.

In 2011, Brown was awarded Administrator of the Year. Prior to his administrative work, he served as a middle school and high school teacher in the field of social science. Brown holds a doctoral degree in educational leadership for the advancement of learning and service in superintendence.

Brown helped enhance the learning environment of Gilmore Middle School in Racine, Wisconsin, and closed the achievement gap in that school. He is a noted speaker on a variety of educational and social topics. Notable recent publications include "The State of African-American Students in Education" and "What Academic and Non-Academic Factors Predict College and Career Readiness."
